NO WORRY ABOUT CHILDREN
EIGHT CENTURIES OF SLEEP
WATCH SILVER, STERLING
ABOUT COL. ROOSEVELT

Prof. Julian S. Huxley tells the British Association for Advancement of Science that birth control retards the earth's depopulation. He says he must prevent underpopulation as well as overpopulation. He worries more than is necessary.

The unwanted child is not an asset. If those that do not want children refrain from having them, much the better. Their abstinence will improve the race.

And there is no need to worry because "the poor have more children, professors have fewer, children college have fewer, and do not want what they have."

Women that ought to have children will have them, women, for instance, like Lincoln's tall mother, the broad-hipped lady that produced Napoleon and many others; the Tanner's girl, mother of William the Conqueror and of the last archbishop, his half-brother, hat rode and died beside him at the Battle of Hastings; the Tanner's wife that gave Pasteur to the world; the mother of peasant blood that created Rembrandt; the other peasant woman, mother of Leonardo Da Vinci, never married to his father; "Bertha with the big feet," mother of Mighty Charlemagne. All such as these, will have children, and enjoy it. If some ladies, with minds on permanent waves, prefer no children, heaven bless them. They are simplifying civilization's problem.

When New York City's seven million people turned their clocks back one hour on Saturday night, each of them, if he got up at the usual hour next day, gained one hour's sleep.

An ingenious person calculates that the seven million hours amount to 799 years.

New Yorkers thus gained in one night almost eight centuries of sleep.

Americans generally would gain a thousand centuries in progress, if they could realize the importance of sleep, and use wisely the energy that sleep brings. Millions that would not let an automobile battery run down allow the battery of their own nervous energy to be always below par for lack of sleep.

Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, and an able fighting railroad man, says conditions will improve as soon as people stop looking for Santa Claus. Sooner or later the unwise economist must get the clothes and automobile that he is postponing and have his house painted.

Senator Morrow, to the question, "when will conditions improve?" replied, "sixty days before anyone knows the change has come."

Intelligent men, looking for the change, will watch British conditions, the fall or rise of the pound, and the increase in the price of silver, if that price increases.

It should increase, for the world, including this rich country, needs more currency. Two piles of gold, one in Paris, one in Washington, cannot finance all creation.

The world is all one market and world conditions will move upward with our own.

Warns of Peril

EAST PALESTINE ASKS $26,000 FOR DISPOSAL PLANT

Proposed Bond Issue Is Certified to Election Board Officials

EAST LIVERPOOL, Sept. 28.—East Palestine will pass judgment on a proposed $26,000 bond issue for a sewage disposal plant at the Nov. 3 election, it was announced today by Chairman J. S. Hilbert and Clerk J. W. Moore of the election board.

The proposal was certified to the vote chiefs as the 40-day limit provided by law expired, thus increasing the number of special proposals in 17 political sub-divisions of the county to 20.

East Palestine's filing boosted the total bond proposals to $267,000, for previously Wellsville had submitted two issues, one for $170,000 for a filtration plant and another for $55,000 for a street improvement program; Fairfield township school district has asked a $50,000 issue for the construction of an addition to high school, while Yellow Creek seeks $6,000 for the erection of a two-room addition to the Fairview school.

The East Palestine bonds will mature in 10 years, and will require a levy of .53 mills for liquidation.

County Forces Find Beer, Lunch Counter In "Abandoned" House

$900, COSTS FINES IN PROBATE COURT

Raiders Go to Work Saturday Afternoon, Quit Sunday Morning

Confiscation of a quantity of beer and whiskey and the arrest of four persons, three men and one woman followed a series of raids conducted in Lisbon and vicinity by Sheriff William J. Barlow and assisting deputies Saturday.

Halt Beer, Lunch Counter

Arrested in the raids were Bessie Kellogg, alleged to have been the operator of a beer and lunch counter on the Highlandtown-Salisbury rd., near Lisbon, and Thomas Vichione and Michael Spangolella, East Chestnut st., Lisbon. The three are being held in the county jail, Lisbon, today for non-payment of fines and costs assessed against them following hearings before Probate Judge Lodge Riddle.

Twenty-nine quarts of beer and two pints of whiskey are reported by Barlow to have been confiscated in the raid on Spangolella's residence, early Saturday afternoon. The man entered a plea of guilty and was fined $300 and costs.

Vichione was also fined $300 and costs when he admitted ownership of 40 pints of whiskey and three baskets of beer, found in his East Chestnut st. home by the raiding party.

Raid "Abandoned" House

The sheriff, with Deputies Frank Ballantine, George Hays and William Virden, then raided a house generally believed to have been abandoned and which is located on the Highlandtown-Salisbury rd. The place is reported by the raiders to have been newly equipped with a bar and lunch counter, a quantity of beer and whiskey being found.

Twenty-nine visitors are said to have entered the place Saturday afternoon. Bessie Kellogg was fined $300 and costs.

The sheriff and party started the series of raids shortly after noon Saturday, visited a number of places under suspicion of violation of liquor statutes and ended the raids about 3 a. m. Sunday.

Frank Geisse, Wellsville, was fined $50 and costs on a charge of possessing devices designed for gambling. A slot machine was confiscated during a raid by Sheriff Barlow on a place alleged to have been operated by Geisse.

SALEM MAN LOSES RIGHT TO DRIVE

Earl Montgomery Arrested After Accident On Damascus Road

Two persons were injured, one seriously, in two automobile accidents occurring on highways near Salem over the weekend. A motorist is being held in city jail as an aftermath of one of the crashes.

Berlin Center Man Hurt

Robert Weingart, 22, of Berlin Center, is in Salem City hospital in a serious condition, suffering from cuts and lacerations on the head and face, and a fractured jaw, sustained in an accident on the Salineville-Lisbon rd. Saturday night.

Weingart's car left the road near Gaver's Corners and turned over. He sustained deep lacerations about the upper and lower jaw and a cut below the left eye. Physicians fear that the sight of his eye will be impaired.

Earl Montgomery, Salem, sustained minor cuts about the face when the automobile he was driving sideswiped a machine driven by Ray Spangler, 194 25th st., SE Massillon, at midnight Sunday. Montgomery's car, after striking Spangler's machine, careened from the highway, collided with a mail box then crashed into a telephone pole on the Salem-Damascus rd.

Losers Right To Drive

Montgomery is said to have abandoned his automobile and returned to Salem where he was arrested about 1 a. m. by Patrolman Edward Pillar and Wilbur Middleton. He was charged with failing to stop his automobile following an accident.

Pleading guilty when arraigned before Mayor J. M. Davidson this morning, Montgomery was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to serve three months in the county jail. His license to drive an automobile was revoked for a period of one year.

AKRON SOARING IN FOURTH HOP, TO TEST TURNS

Airship Is Scheduled To Make Six Loops Around Home Dock

(By Associated Press)

AKRON, O., Sept. 28.—The U. S. S. Akron took off at 10:44 a. m. today for its fourth test flight from the mooring mast to which it had been anchored at 12:10 a. m. After a test flight last night, the ground crew was ordered to be ready for the re-landing after today's flight at 5:30 p. m.

Tests Engines

The world's largest zeppelin was moored to her mast at midnight at the end of her third test flight and completing the "shop test" of her eight engines, rudders and various instruments. She had gone aloft at 6:32 p. m. Sunday. Today's flight was to test the turning radius. The 785-foot aerial giant requires between 3,000 and 3,500 feet in which to turn about. She was scheduled to make six turns above the Akron airport, with instruments posted at a number of places to record the path of the ship in a six-hour flight.

Landing Delayed

The landing at midnight was delayed more than an hour and a half, because the 110-ton portable mooring mast had become fast in the mud of the airport, defying the efforts of the ground crew of 25 men until nearly midnight.

Meanwhile the ship cruised around Akron, once going as far as the edge of Cleveland with Governor George White as the chief guest passenger.

JOINT HEARING OF DUET OPENS IN YOUNGSTOWN

Charge Is Hurdled by Special Prosecutor James Kennedy

TAX APPOINTMENT FORCED, HE ASSERTS

Doesn't Know What Became of Part of Sherman's Receipts

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Sept. 28.—A charge that Prosecutor Ray L. Thomas, of Mahoning county had accepted a bribe from Attorney David Sherman was made today by Special Prosecutor James Kennedy in making the state's opening statement in the joint trial of Sherman and Thomas on charges of bribery and of an officer receiving compensation.

Shermer Paid $42,000

Kennedy said that Thomas in 1928 "compelled" the county commissioners and Judge J. H. C. Lyon to appoint Sherman to collect delinquent taxes under a contract by which Sherman was to be paid on a percentage basis. Sherman ultimately was paid $42,000 for his work.

"We don't know what became of $15,000 or $20,000 of this money received by Sherman," Kennedy said. "But bank records show that in 1929 Thomas' deposits were $28,167."

The defendants have waived a jury trial, and the case is being heard by Judge H. W. Jewell of Delaware.

It was the first year this year Thomas has been a defendant. He was acquitted of a charge of blackmail and was upheld in an ouster action.

Won't Recognize Facts

Oswald E. Dismuth, defense counsel, said in his opening statement that "the facts differ so radically from what the state has said that the court won't recognize them."

He declared that had Thomas cared to undertake the tax collection himself, he would have been entitled to 25 per cent, and could have made $250,000 without Sherman's help.

He recalled that Sherman collected taxes for the city long before he worked for a county and "there is no claim that Thomas had anything to do with that."

COURT TO HEAR MERGER APPEAL

Youngstown Sheet, Tube, Bethlehem Steel Case, Listed Oct. 26

YOUNGSTOWN, Sept. 28.—The appeal from an injunction against the proposed merger of Youngstown Sheet and Tube company and Bethlehem Steel corporation will be heard October 26, it was decided today after the appeals court had warned attorneys for both sides that the case must be heard in this term of court, which ends in five weeks.

Application for an immediate hearing was made by Attorney Harry J. Crawford of Cleveland, representing dissenting shareholders.

Newton D. Baker, representing Sheet and Tube, admitting the "tremendous importance of an early decision," asked for a delay until the latter part of November, because Frederick T. Wood, chief counsel for Bethlehem could not be present before that time.

Kept 'em Still

WINSLOW, Ariz., Sept. 28.—Accompanied by a couple of my kids and a nephew, we are flying back to old Orangejuiceville after a happy day yesterday at a big celebration in Claremore.

It sure was fine to meet all the old home folks. After all, it's the best people that stay at home. It's just the tramps that leave and do the bumming.

It broke all records for an enjoyable day. There wasn't a speech made and you just can't imagine how glad everybody was. The Chamber of Commerce and some politicians were broken-hearted not to be able to say something, but we kept 'em still.

LET'S FILL THE TRUCKS

The comfort of a well heated home knows not the misery of cold
and suffering from the icy touch
of winter.In the glowing aroma of coffee,
eggs and toast in the morning, it is easy for one's senses to be dulled to the fact that somewhere else the hungry are facing a new day, and new hunger.Clad in warm, healthful clothing, quite fashionable too, as the snow and wind whip around us,
we may be bundled up so tightly
that our eyes fail to see the shivering forms of those whose wardrobes are not regulated by fashion.To look upon suffering may be difficult. Yet it remains, nevertheless, a duty of those who have, to help those who do not have.Possibly we have thought about it but have not just got around to actually doing it.The Salem post of the American Legion offers its time and its labors, without charge to anyone, to free us of the little effort there may be involved in extending whatever aid we may be able to give.The Legion, on Tuesday and Wednesday nights, will operate trucks through the city collecting wearing apparel and food which will be distributed to those who need it and who would not otherwise be able to get it.Families who have something they can give need only to bundle it up and hail the trucks as they reach their homes.Conditions among the needy in Salem probably are not so marked as they are elsewhere. Nevertheless they exist, to some extent, and it is the duty of everyone to help.
Let's fill the Legion trucks.

BOUNCING BETTY

If every man, woman and child in the United States would eat an extra slice of bread each day the wheat surplus would start to disappear rapidly.If the diet had never had been introduced in the United States
there wouldn't be such an unmanageable surplus.If a few million people would develop a liking for whole wheat bread suddenly, buying it and eating it in its natural state, the wheat farmers and the federal farm board would rejoice.If wearers of the new slant hats would develop silhouettes in keeping with them they would be obliged to fill out curves that have been starved into angles. The bureau of home economics, which keeps the weather eye on such matters takes all the credit for this one.It is the bureau's contribution to farm relief. Make a nation of bouncing Bettys to go with the hats that are the current fashion
and more wheat will be consumed, it suggests brightly. And then the farmers would raise more wheat,
the Paris fashion dictators would change the hat style and there would be another huge wheat surplus.Adding a final "if" to the list:—
If taxpayers were to be as impatient with the puerile stuff proposed by certain federal bureaus as they ought to be there would be fewer bureaus and less worry about finding money to operate them.

What Others Say

FORGETFULNESS IN THE FAR EAST.In view of recent disputes between Japan and China, involving interpretations of treaties dealing with trade in Manchuria, with the rights of Japanese settlers in that rich province and with the South Manchurian railroad, not to mention the clashes between Chinese and Japanese in Korea, the bombardment and seizure by Japanese forces of Mukden the ancient Manchurian capital, is got particularlysurprising. A more perplexing and disturbing development is the landing of Japanese troops in Tsingtao, on the Shantung peninsula, in China proper.One thing is painfully clear.
Neither the League of Nations covenant nor the Briand-Kellogg war-renunciation treaty visibly embarrasses Japan in its warlike activities on Chinese soil. True, the latter instrument contains no
express provision for moral intervention or even for admonition and reminder by neutral signatories. But the covenant provides for emergency action by the council of the league and for suitable recommendations to league members.Japan and China accuse each other of taking aggressive steps in disregard to treaty obligations,
which of the disputants is innocent and which is guilty of wrongful acts or reprehensible omissions, fraught with peril to peace,
if they be not equally blameworthy is not readily determined at this distance. But one can not escape the melancholy conclusion that neither Japan nor China has sought sincerely to adjust the existing controversies by peaceful conference, mediation or arbitration. Neither appears to have taken its peace pledges seriously.Obviously, solemn agreements honored in the breach by some signatories will not long command respect anywhere.—Chicago News.

New York informed him that un-

taking a boat sailing at midnight
she would leap from the 16th story

newest tag line is "I can't glory."
It is a note of cynicism. When one

"black out" skit, the risqué climax of which is turning out all the stage lights, is said to have been in the burlesque halls. There has not been a successful revue without them in five years. To my notion the most hilarious was written by Eddie Welch, a Hollywood gag man. The scene is a hotel apartment. A husband off on atrip suddenly returns hoping to catch an army officer he suspects of paying attention to his wife. He hears a noise in a closet. Drawing his pistol he shouts: "Unless that man in a uniform comes out at once I'll fire." The door opens and out come in single file a bell boy,
a door man, a street sweeper, elevator master and so on, winding up with a mounted cop on his horse.Tailoring establishments are a certain barometer of tumbling and leaping prosperity. Following every prolonged panic the first retail business to swing upward is the tailor. With good times assured, the male animal becomes clothes conscious. I don't know the situation in New York tailoring places and with my second company nerves I'm afraid to ask.I did hear, however, that de luxe hotels are beginning, figuratively, to sit up and smile wanly. For many months they have been picking at the coverlets. It is said that one of the smaller ones that had a staff of 118 normally was peeled down to a total of ten. At one time it averaged only six patrons a day.The meanest joke of the year took place in a Madison avenue sandwich salon. A stew fell asleep at a table with his mouth agape.
Jokers secured a raw oyster, poured a spoonful of ketchup on his mouth and dropped the oyster into the yawning maw. At the same instant they cried "rats." The sleepy came to, gulping down the oyster, rubbed his hand across the mouth, saw a red smear and in white faced terror moaned: "And

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland,
New York CityWarnings of Apoplectic Disease
We seldom look at a newspaper
without reading of a case of apoplexy. Most of the sudden deaths are due to this condition.Apoplexy, or "stroke," as it is commonly called, is due to a rupture of a tiny artery in the brain. This break in the blood vessel permits a hemorrhage into the brain substance. Unconsciousness follows.In cases of recovery the patient is usually more or less paralyzed. The paralysis that occurs is usually opposite to the side of the brain where the hemorrhage took place.The most common artery to rupture in apoplexy, is a branch of a large vessel which is found on the right side of the brain. The paralysis is then found in the left side of the body.The hemorrhage usually takes place in an area of the brain
where the motor fibres are centered. The fibres coming from this portion of the brain control movements of the tongue, face, arms,
hands and legs. Due to the pressure on the nerve cells caused by the hemorrhage, there is a loss of power of the parts of the body supplied by these particular nerves.Apoplexy rarely, if ever, occurs in young adults. It is most commonly seen in persons beyond the age of fifty.Such factors as high blood pressure, hardening of the arteries, heart disease, kidney disease and other constitutional disorders, are usually the real cause of the conditions which are favorable to hemorrhage.

The onset of the disease is sudden. But most persons have been warned in advance of the danger.

They have known of the possibility of its occurrence.Most cases follow immediately after severe exertion. This exertion may be in the form either of mental or of muscular exercise.
Many attacks of apoplexy occur after heavy meals. It is liable to follow any sudden effort or exercise after a meal which has not been given sufficient time to digest.Emotional excitement, particularly anger, is a factor to be considered in the prevention of this sudden calamity. The quiet, unruffled person rarely succumbs to this catastrophe.Care of the diet, hygiene, fresh air and sunshine, plus an adequate amount of rest, are vitally important for all individuals who present
any signs of threatening apoplexy.
It is certainly true in this disease
that prevention is better than cure.

PLAYING WITH FIRE

BY WILLIAM McLEOD RAINE

SYNOPSIS

Lee Reynolds is the owner of a ranch which drought has almost ruined and starved the cattle. School friends from the east come as paying guests. Lee quarrels with her ranch foreman, Rance Brennan, partly on account of a new hand named Smith she hired without his permission and partly because she rejects his love suit. Brennan is discharged and swears revenge. Dunc Daggett, an old ranch helper, recognizes Smith as Jack Hadley, whose father owned a nearby mine and was murdered by outlaws. Hadley tells Daggett that he is searching for the murderer of his father. Lee leases a Mexican ranch and moves the herd there. Mrs. Doris Silver, a flirtatious friend of Lee's goes on ahead to the Mexican rancho. Brennan drops in on her just before Jack Hadley, who has been sent on by Lee, arrives. Hadley drives to Palo Duro for supplies and takes Doris with him. Doris wanders off and is abducted and Hadley has to fight several natives to rescue her.

INSTALLMENT II

A CONFERENCE

Lee was brisk and business-like, but her fingers were not quite so deft as usual. It was all in the day's work of a ranch woman. At any time a cowboy was likely to have a broken arm or a sprained ankle. No sense in getting flustered she told herself severely. Yet she was a little tremulous with excitement. There was something about Hadley that quickened the pulses, a charm of personality not quite explainable. She was aware of a fierce joy and of a scorn of the life in her that allowed it.

"Now you're all right," she said

But her fingers were not quite so deft as usual.

when she had finished. "All you need is a night's good sleep."

"I wonder if I'll get it," he said dryly. "It wouldn't surprise me if a few rurales dropped in and had a few words to say about that."

"Tell me the whole story from the beginning," Lee ordered.

He told it, very briefly. Once she stopped him to ask a question.

"Why did you let Doris go into the house at all?"

The young man hesitated. He did not want to tell tales out of school.

"I should have thought you would have kept her near you," Lee's forehead knit in a little frown. She looked at Doris—and continued to look at her. A small suspicion was born in her. "Didn't he tell you to stay near, Doris—not to leave him?"

"Yes," Doris admitted defensively. "But I didn't see why I could not go out. How was I to know that—"

Lee interrupted rudely. "I see."

That was all she said, but it was enough.

After Hadley had concluded the story he and Lee turned to a consideration of possible consequences.

"It's unfortunate," he said. "With so many witnesses against me it will be difficult for me to set myself right with the government here. I'm a gringo, despised by most good Mexicans and therefore discredited even before the evidence is in. The question is how it will affect you."

"That's one point, but not the most important. If you're flung into prison here you may not get out for years. I wonder if you had not better take the car and get across the line while there's still time. Doris can go with you, too. You'd better pack up at once. I'll have Ysela put up a basket of food for you."

"You mean—go tonight?" Doris asked.

"I mean go now. Soon as you can get packed. In ten minutes."

"But I can't even change my dress in ten minutes, let alone pack all my things," Doris protested.

"But—"

"If you'd rather stay and run the risk of a Mexican prison," Lee cut in brutally. "It will be very dirty and there will be lots of vermin and the food will be unspeakably bad, and of course anything may happen to you there."

"I'll go," Doris said. "I didn't mean that, Lee."

The lovely cupid's bow lips trembled and the blue eyes misted. "But I don't see why you speak that way to me after all I've been through today. It's not my fault those horrid men insulted me. I didn't ask them to . . . to . . ."

Lee repented her harshness. After all she was primarily to blame herself for ever having let Doris come into the country, even though she had no faintest suspicion that a revolution was in brew. It was not fair to blame Doris because she was what she was.

"Forgive me, dear. I was too brusque. What I mean is that if you're going with Mr. Smith you'll have to hurry. Every minute counts. Even now it may be to late."

"I'd better go and get some clothes on," Hadley said. "They didn't leave me much."

Wall Street Not Surprised By Norway, Sweden Gold Action

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—The stock market opened calmly but with pronounced heaviness in spots today.

Several shares sagged 1 to 3 points but trading turned dull after the first few minutes. Several of the prominent industrials, such as U. S. Steel, American Can and General Motors eased only fractionally. Kreuzer and toll, financial affiliate of the Swedish match trust, lost only 1-4 of a point.

American Telephone declined 2 points and Western Union and Coca Cola, more than 3. Issues off a point or more included Allied Chemical, North American, Eastman, Westinghouse and Woolworth. Kresge, which held unchanged all last week finally sagged more than 1-2.

Wall street was not surprised by the temporary suspensions of the gold standard in Norway and Sweden. This action, preceded by last week's severe depreciation in those countries' currencies was viewed as more or less natural consequences of the British suspension, since London is their financial capital. Scandinavian banks in New York are small.

Jack Hadley wished, too, that Lee could go with them but he did not say so. He knew she wouldn't go, had known it without even broaching the subject. He would have thought less of her if she had deserted Dunc and the enterprise to which she was pledged. But he worried about her future, especially if the revolution developed, and he was sorry that he had to desert her just when she seemed to need him.

His reluctance at leaving was so great he could not quite understand it. He had to go, as much on her account as on his own. If he stayed the authorities would find some way of bringing the responsibility home to her. If he fled, taking her car with him, she would be by that very fact acquitted of complicity. But his whole desire was to stay. She was so gallant such a good sport. She was hard of course. All good fighters have to be. There did not seem to be anything romantic or sentimental about her. But Jack knew that she was a woman in ten thousand.

They drove along the shoulder of a hillside, above them a ghostly grove of sahuaro. Doris shivered closer to the man at the wheel.

"Cold?" Jack asked. "Shall I wrap my slicker around you?"

"No-o," she murmured. "It's this giant cactus. I feel as though I were in a graveyard and the shadowy dead might begin to walk."

"They'd have to run to catch us," he promised her. "And fast, too. See, we're leaving your graveyard behind."

"I feel so safe with you," she said sleepily. "As if I were a little girl and you my big brother. You're not like any one I ever met before. You're different."

"There's a reminiscent sound about that," he said aloud as he thought to himself. "Where have I heard it?"

"O, but you are. It's not a line. Do you know, I have a queer feeling that Lee has fallen in love with you? You're just the kind of a man she'd fancy. That's why she was so cross with me a while ago."

She yawned, drowsily.

"Better sleep," he told her.

With one hand he tucked her slicker around her like a blanket. She snuggled down in it and leaned comfortably against his shoulder.

"Aren't you going to kiss me good night?" she asked, tilting her golden head at him with a most inviting smile.

He kissed her.

"Hm! I don't think much of that as a kiss" she criticized.

"Little girls never do think much of their big brothers' kisses, do they?"

"But you're only a kinda big brother. You could forget it sometimes, couldn't you?"

"I've forgotten it already. Is this better?"

She flashed a swift sidelong look at him as she emerged breathless from his embrace. It asked a question not of him but of herself. Was she playing with fire when she tempted this hard reckless man to put a sting in his kisses?

"I don't think you need any lessons," she said. "Now you may be a big brother again, please."

She settled herself for sleep.

He, who helped Poincare in restoring France to a gold basis, and the vast accumulation of gold in France, says now that the world's depression is caused by "a penury of monetary metals," and "silver, which has been stupidly demonetized, should be rehabilitated."

We have the silver, can produce it—hundreds of millions of ounces a year. The world needs more real money for its prosperity, and, being unable to produce enough gold, it should, under wise regulations, restore silver's value.

Magnesia Best for Your Indigestion

Warns Against Doping Stomach With Artificial Digestants

Most people who suffer, either occasionally or chronically from gas, sourness and indigestion, have now discontinued disagreeable diets, patent foods and the use of harmful drugs, stomach tonics, medicines and artificial digestants, and instead take a teaspoonful or four tablets of Bisurated Magnesia in a little water after meals with the result that their stomach no longer troubles them, they are able to eat as they please and they enjoy much better health. Those who use Bisurated Magnesia never dread the approach of meal time because they know this powerful anti-acid and food corrective, which can be obtained from any good drug store, will instantly neutralize the stomach acidity, sweeten the stomach, prevent food fermentation, and make digestion easy. Try this plan yourself, but be certain to get Bisurated Magnesia especially prepared for stomach use.—Adv.

Ice Industry Has Best Year

The ice industry, stated the Chicago Daily Tribune recently, "occupies an enviable position, for despite the slowness of the times its business has never been better."

More people today use ICE Refrigeration than ever before; they know that year-round refrigeration is necessary and they choose ICE because it's simplest, most satisfactory and most economical.

Millions of tons of ICE are consumed annually in safeguarding perishable foods in transit, in stores, hotels, restaurants, dining cars, hospitals and homes. Millions of tons are used in cooling beverages and in relieving pain and now ICE has a new use—that of cooling air in theatres, factories, stores, offices, restaurants, hospitals, hotels, Pullman cars and diners—wherever people live, travel, work or play.

ICE continues to be indispensable to human health and comfort. It's easy to get and inexpensive.

A BANQUET at the Memorial building, this week of next week will be held to celebrate the most successful softball season in Salem athletic history. Members of the city's ten softball league teams, the board of arbitration, umpires and many fans will be guests at the occasion. A gathering of approximately 250 persons is expected by J. M. Kelley, organizer of municipal athletic leagues here and to whom great credit goes for the outstanding success attained by the municipal circuit last season.

The summer softball season came to an official close Thursday night when the Mullins Foremen's club was vanquished by a team of all-star talent in the third and deciding game of the series played for the benefit of the Salem public school milk fund. The result of the series again proved the great benefits of athletic events in Salem, more than $130 being donated to the milk fund to purchase milk for undernourished school children during the 1931-32 school term.

All through the summer the softball league was marked with great attendance by fans. Centennial park field was the mecca of an average of 750 men and women five nights a week. It can easily be said that aggregate attendance at all games exceeded 50,000, a new record in summer sports here.

The absence of baseball from the summer sports curriculum was hardly missed here because of keen interest in softball. There were 123 players represented in the league, playing twice a week. Baseball, a grand game and still America's national sport, never attracted to many participants.

AS THE CURTAIN draws on baseball and softball competition plans will soon be initiated for the municipal basketball league at the Memorial building gymnasium. Teams will be organized within the next two months and sponsors predict another record-breaking season.

Salem Saxons have already started preparations for the 1931-32 Penn-Ohio German Basketball league in which 14 teams will be entered this year. The league will be split in two divisions with Salem competing in the southern half with Homestead, Monaca, New Castle, Ellwood City, Farrell, and Martins Ferry.

Northern half contestants come from Cleveland, East, Cleveland West, Lorain, Erie, Canton, Youngstown and Alliance.

Victory Over Niles Aids Team's Chance for Big Ten Laurels

ENTHUSIASTIC over their close but decisive victory over Niles, Salem High gridders start football workouts at Reilly stadium this week with an open date ahead of them. No game is scheduled during the coming weekend but active preparations will go ahead for the Quakers' contest with the powerful Warren High aggregation Friday, Oct. 9.

Warren Team Strong

Warren, with an all-veteran aggregation back, rang up two consecutive victories by decisive scores over Ashtabula and Newton Falls and easily merits its ranking as one of the most feared opponents on the Quaker schedule. In fact the team is probably one of the outstanding gridiron aggregations in Northeastern Ohio.

Salem's gridders played impressive football to defeat the invading Niles aggregation Friday night, coming from behind to tally seven of their eight first downs in the last two quarters after the visitors took a 6-0 lead in the first eight minutes of play. Several flaws were apparent in the team's performance, however, and Coach Floyd Stone is counting seriously on their elimination in the next ten days.

Pass Defense Poor

Inability to diagnose fast-working offensive plays appeared to be a serious fault of the Red and Black against Niles, a team with a deceptive formation that would have puzzled even better teams than Salem's. Then, too, the Quakers presented a poor forward pass defense and almost lost the game through this fault in the last two minutes of play.

Salem earned its victory against Niles but the team has the steady downpour of rain and the slippery ball to thank for the victory. Four straight aerial tosses were thrown directly into the hands of a receiver in the closing minutes of play and either one of them might have brought a score had not the pigskin slipped out of the catcher's arms.

A forward pass defense is a serious necessity in the defensive makeup of all gridiron aggregations. The Salem outfit showed a dire need of strength in this department in which a weakness that may prove disastrous was apparent.

Against Warren the Quakers will be meeting a team that will be one of the finest coached outfits in the state. The Trumbull countians, anxious to obtain vengeance for the series of defeats sustained in battles with the Red and Black, will be a fighting team. This desire for revenge, coupled with advantage in experience and weight and its great outlay of scintillating talent will make the Hillmen heavy favorites.

Outlook Greatly Improved

Coach Stone can well be expected to take care of the flaws in Salem's offensive and defensive. The fact that the team played superior ball when necessity demanded proved at least that the Red and Black again is represented by a combination of talent that can pull through in the pinches. The team is destined to finish the season with more wins than defeats.

Niles fans went away from Salem discomfited from the fact that they had lost their best chance in years to defeat a Quaker City team. They spoke of their victors as a "one-man" organization, meaning, of course, no other than Ed Beck.

Beck, no doubt, was the main star in bringing the victory to the home team but without the splendid work of John French, Jack Carpenter and Patsy Konert II in the backfield as interferences, his running would have gone for naught. On the line Slinger and Keyes, Norman Early, Billie Corso and Whitcomb played like veterans.

The Stone-Lewis combine has a big chance to convince its backers of its prowess against Warren. Hundreds of fans will go to the Trumbull county seat eagerly shouting for a victory. If the team continues to improve, within the next ten days, as it did in the short period between the Canton and Niles game, they will be given what they want.

KYSER'S 60-YD. RUN WINS GAME FOR COLUMBIANA

Lisbon Defeated For First Time In Years, 6-0, In Saturday Tilt

COLUMBIANA, Sept. 28.—Featured by a 60-yd. run by Kyser after interception of a forward pass, Columbiana High's gridders defeated Lisbon High for the first time in years in a thrilling 6-0 contest here Saturday.

Brings Only Score

Kyser's sensational run brought the only score of the contest and victory for the Red and White which this year is producing its most powerful team in five seasons.

Lisbon made one threat to score in the second quarter and Columbiana threatened to score in both the third and final periods.

A large share of the play in the first period was in midfield with both teams resorting to line plunges. The half ended with the ball near Columbiana's goal line. In the third period, Columbiana carried the ball to Lisbon's three-yard line, where it was held for downs. The quarter ended with the ball in Lisbon's possession on that team's own three-yard line. In the final quarter, Columbiana again carried the ball to Lisbon's three-yard line as the game ended.

Columbiana: I.E. Blackburn, Mather, LG, Springer, Mather, C, Reese, Baughman, RG, Gampsey, Hum, RT, Springer, Drexler, RE, Cherry, Zellers, Q, Vanaman, Kyser, LH, Howard, Dowd, QH, Nicholson, Bringard, F, Griffith, Ref.—Fairfield; umpire, Rayen, Youngstown.

Bulldogs Play Good Ball but Lose, 13-6, To Cuyahoga Falls

Salem Bulldogs lost their second straight Ohio Bantam-weight league football game Saturday, dropping a 13-6 verdict to the strong Cuyahoga Falls eleven in a hard fought battle at Cuyahoga Falls.

The Salem outfit showed great improvement and gave the Falls combine its hardest tussle of the season. Paul Scullion and Harry McCarthy featured for the Bulldogs.

Scullion tossed a short pass to McCarthy who ran 39 yards to the Falls' four-ft. line in the third quarter. Scullion bucked it over for the Sheenmen's only score.

Cuyahoga Falls trailed in the first quarter when two 15-yd penalties placed the pigskin near Salem's goal-line. The home team registered again in the last three minutes of play. Sheen's outfit will clash with

TOMLIN STARS IN SOUTH WIN

Youngstown Schools Win Verdicts In Saturday Grid Battles; Struthers loses, 13-0

YOUNGSTOWN, Sept. 28.—Youngstown scholastic grid aggregations again finished ahead in three contests with rival schools Saturday.

South High, with Lehman Tomlin starring, won over Campbell Memorial, 910, while Chaney won a 20-verdict over Scienceville. Youngstown East trounced Sharpsville, Pa., 20-0.

Tomlin ran 57 yards for South's only touchdown against Memorial. Struthers High lost its first game in two years to Cleveland Cathedral Latin, 13-0.

A NEW NASH
for 795
F.O.B. FACTORY

WORLD'S 2nd LARGEST BUILDER OF EIGHTS SAYS, "JUST DRIVE THIS SIX"

WHEN Nash—now second largest builder of Eights—suggests that you drive a Six, you may be sure of something unusual in performance.

This new Nash Six is the quickest car on the get-away you ever drove. All thru its range of speeds it is extremely smooth and flexible due to its big, 7-bearing, high-compression motor which develops great power and speed.

Its shift is the newest development—the Synchro-Shift transmission with a Silent Second Speed as quiet as high. You can shift rapidly and quickly from high to second, or high to low, and back again.

This car is Sound-Proofed in body and chassis. It comes in both Synchro-Shift Free Wheeling and Non-Free-Wheeling models. Roominess is another pleasing feature. So is the starter button on the dash which saves you fumbling with your foot over the floor-boards.

You have your choice—at no extra cost—of either fine mohair or top-quality broadcloth for upholstery. You have your choice of color, too—eleven richly distinctive color combinations from which to satisfy your personal preference.

All these and many other valuable features embodied in this Six make it a car you ought to know if you want the best that money can buy. Drive it and you'll want it!

The Nash line also includes Straight Eights in three notable series: New 9-70 Series, $945 to $1075; New 9-80 Series, $1245 to $1375; New 9-90 Series, $1565 to $2025. Prices f.o.b. factory. Synchro-Shift Free Wheeling Optional at only $20 to $35 extra.

MAGNUM, Okla.—Four birdsies were scored by a foursome on the Country club course here recently. Arthur Lovett, Charles Short, Dr. J. B. Hollis and Bill Fritch shot three times on the 300-yard par 4 number 3 hole. Each of them drove straight down the fairway, chipped to within 12 feet of the cup and sank their putts for the birdsies.

SEBRING DROPS CLOSE CONTEST

Ealy's Touchdown in Last Quarter Wins 12-6 Tilt for East Palestine

SEBRING, Sept. 28.—A fighting Sebring eleven forced the much-taunted East Palestine eleven to the limit in a thrilling battle here Saturday. The invaders won, 12-6, only after the fiercest kind of a battle. Ward, Sebring's flashy half back, was the outstanding star of the game, starting the scoring in the opening period with a sensational 50-yd run across the visitors' goal. Aided by a fumble, the Palestine lads tied the score in the second period.

Ealy played the lead role in carrying the ball down the field into Sebring's territory to score the winning touchdown for the Brown and White late in the fourth quarter.

1,000 RETURN TO COAL MINE JOBS

Athens County Dispute Is Ended as Employees Accept White's Plan

(By Associated Press)
MILLFIELD, O., Sept. 28.—More than a thousand coal miners trudged back to their jobs in all but two Athens county mines today, ending a week's walkout that started in a dispute over the method of selecting check weighmen.

At a mass meeting here yesterday the miners voted to accept a plan submitted by Gov. George White under which only employees of the mines concerned can vote on the selection of check weighmen.

Previously there was no such restriction.

Others Stay Out
The men will not return to work at the Sunday Creek Coal company's No. 5 mine at Murray City and the Western Fuel company's 10-X mine at Goose Run until new check weighmen are selected. These two mines were the center of the dispute.

Approximately 1,500 miners, their wives and children attended the meeting and stood in a drizzling rain while their leaders told them the new agreement was not satisfactory, but must be accepted for the present to escape the hardships of a winter without work.

The speakers also declared they would continue to work for recognition of the United Mine Workers in this field, which is now on an "open shop" basis.

The miners' leaders were Lee Hall, president of the Ohio district of the United Mine Workers; David Watkins, vice president; G. W. Savage, secretary-treasurer; and Percy Tetlow, an international officer of the union.

Represent Governor
Representing Gov. White were Col. John S. Shetler and Lieut. L. G. Windom of the Ohio National

THEATER Attractions

"SIDE SHOW" feature Monday at the State theater has as its background, the circus.

Winnie Lightner is starred. Opportunity is given her when she doubles for the cannibal, the fire diver, the hula dancer and various other side show attractions.

Besides all this, she is the central figure in a dramatic love story which forms the basis of the film.

She is in love with the Barker, played by Donald Cook, and their affair sails smoothly until her younger sister, Evelyn Knapp insists on joining the circus. Ignorant of her sister's affair, Evelyn falls in love with Cook. The story develops into a conflict between Winnie's love for the Barker and for her sister, whose happiness she seeks.

Charles Butterworth comes very prominently to the fore as Captain Sidney, trainer of seals.

"THE SPIDER" with Edmund Lowe in the title role is the attraction Sunday and Monday at the Grand.

"The Spider," as those who witnessed the stage play are well aware, is one of those entertainments wherein goose-flesh and smiles are blended to make excitement and fun. This is so because of the novelty of the setting. The entire action of the picture, with the exception of a few minor and unimportant details takes place on the stage, in the aisles and among the audience of the Tivoli Theatre. It is a riot of melo-drama and laughs in which the audience is fused with the cast, becoming integral with the paid entertainers in the furious, stormy drama that follows the unwinding of the plot.

Lois Moran is the featured feminine lead. El Brendel and George E. Stone are prominently cast.

Guard, who were stoned as they drove into the strike zone several days ago. James Berry, chief of the state division of mines, also attended.

Col. Shetler and Lieut. Windom will supervise the elections of check weighmen at the 10-X and No. 5 mines to prevent any interference.
